Professor of Criminology

The School of Criminology invites applications for two full-time tenure-track positions at the rank of Assistant Professor in Criminology.

For the first position, significant experience in the field of domestic security is required.

For the second position, there are openings in the following fields: white-collar crime, criminal sociology and criminal justice.

Responsibilities

The successful candidates will be expected to teach at all three levels of the curriculum, supervise graduate students, engage in ongoing research and publication, and contribute to the academic life and reputation of the institution.

Requirements

- PhD in Criminology or a related discipline, completed before the starting date.
- Demonstrated proficiency and teaching abilities at all three levels of the curriculum. Versatility in teaching is an asset.
- Demonstrated research ability.
- Proficiency in the French language. The Université de Montréal is a Québec university with an international reputation. French is the language of instruction. To renew its teaching faculty, the University is intensively recruiting the world's best specialists. In accordance with the institution's language policy [http://www.direction.umontreal.ca/secgen/recueil/politique_linguistique.html], Université de Montréal provides support for newly-recruited faculty to attain proficiency in French.
